

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(While Louella O. Parsons is on vacation, her column will be written by Dorothy Manners.)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 14 (INS)—At last it's settled. Edo Pinza's first on his half-million dollar contract with MGM is Sascha Guitry's classic, "Deburau" with Mario Lanza as his co-star.

However, they aren't sticking to Guitry's original characters of the great circus clown and his son. Producer Sidney Franklin is switching the setting for the father-son story to the opera stage.

I heard an amusing new slant on Pinza's supposed tendency toward flirtations the other day. Seems he never does any handkissing unless there's somebody around to comment on it—really loves his wife and just plays the Don Juan for the publicity value.

That big lovable lug, Jack Dempsey, loomed up at the office the other day with more news about his producing tieup with Harry Popkin and Sam Stiefel.

Jack Dempsey

The champ says there's more to it than merely officiating at the birth of his life story on the screen.

Truth is, Jack's first fling as a movie impresario will not be the Dempsey story. He will be partner with Popkin and Stiefel in filming "The Big Wheel," the automobile racing thriller, starring Mickey Rooney and Tom Mitchell.

"I'll make one — perhaps two — sports features per year," Jack told me, "and not confined to boxing. We'll take in baseball, football, racing."

Nice chatty letter from Greer Garson to Louella Parsons which I opened, and read without consequence.

"Buddy gave a delightful party for Nina (Greer's mother) who has been visiting us at Fork Lightning Ranch. We had a Spanish orchestra and wonderful fun and music. Buddy is trying hard to arrange his affairs so he can go to Europe with me, but may not be able to come until 10 days later."

"Nina also follows me there and will visit friends in Scotland before coming on to London. We hope to be back here for a merry Christmas in either California or Texas."

"I've certainly taken to ranch life and have switched from buttons and bows to levis and boots. It's a great life and I hate to leave it even to renew acquaintance with dear 'Mrs. Miniver.'"

Steve Cochrane, who has always managed to keep in the limelight by romance publicity (Mae West was supposed to be made for him and vice versa during the revival of "Diamond Lil"), has a good acting contract to tout these days.

Jack Warner has given him a long-term deal at Warner's following a good performance with James Cagney in "White Heat," which is an excellent picture. Cagney back at his jim-dandy best.

But getting back to Cochrane, his first on the new contract will be the good looking menace in "The Victim" opposite Joan Crawford.

Milton Berle has had some pretty shabby treatment from other comics and some of the press since he has been here.

He does so many swell things and plays so many benefits for nothing except a possible nervous breakdown, they should be glad to have the mothballs shaken out of the old sags.

Latest swell gesture from Berle is doing gratis a two-reel special trailer for the Salvation Army which will be shown in all theatres.

Hollywood in shorts: The Dennis Days, in Chicago, have been told to expect another little Day. There's already a six-month-old Day in the Hollywood nursery.

Speaking of doings on the Rivera, the Darryl Zanuck's threw a sumptuous dinner at the Carlton Hotel followed by a preview of Tyrone Power's "Prince of Foxes." It was a sparkling affair even though the ladies, almost without exception, arrived practically minus jewels—the whole vicinity being in a state since the robbery of the Aga Khan and the Begum.

All the British residents of the Carlton stood up and applauded when the Duke and Duchess of Windsor arrived which seemed to touch the Duke greatly.

Other guests of the Zanucks were the Louis Jourdans, the Count and Countess Rossi, Merle Oberon, Elsa Maxwell, Jessie Donahue and John Pierre Aumont (alone). Our private eye at the doings reports that "Prince of Foxes" is tremendous and will more than pay for its enormous cost.

Lawrence Tibbett, Jr., whose engagement was broken just 24 hours before the wedding, is now interested romantically in Noel Neil, pretty Republic actress.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

The Romans are known to have used false teeth.

Hoover's Quotation From Thomas Jefferson

Herbert Hoover, in his Palo Alto address on his 75th birthday, quoted this pertinent and poignant statement from Thomas Jefferson: "We must make a choice between economy and liberty, or profusion and servitude. . . . If we can prevent government from wresting the labors of the people under the pretense of caring for them, we shall be happy." The Cumberland News ventures also to quote from Jefferson, at a time when suddenly the passions of North and South flamed up over the admission of Missouri as a slave state—"like an alarm bell in the night."

Hoover's address was an alarm in the night. A living ex-President saw looming before him what another ex-President had forecast. In Jefferson's administration, only one person in 120 was a paid employee of the state. Now there is one government employee to every 22 persons: "Worse than this, there is today one government employee to about eight of the working population." The seven other workers carry him on their shoulders.

Mr. Hoover continues: If the recipients of government pay are "of age and all married they comprise about one half of the voters of the last presidential election." The 6 days when the Average Citizen works for the government, plus 20 more in "the seriously proposed further spending" (and deducting from the computation the holidays, Sundays and average vacations) works out as one week in every month. Thus one-fourth of his time, the Average Citizen is toiling for the government. From his family the Government takes $1,300 in yearly taxes (as against $200 twenty years ago) or takes $1,900 if debt service is included.

According to the government's own estimate of a desirable standard of living, what it takes and what it proposes to take "will absorb between 75 and 85 per cent of all the savings of the people." Out of the slim remainder the people must buy their homes, farms, and insurance, and make the investments that "sustain and stimulate progress in our productive system. . . . We are on the last mile to Collectivism" works out as one week in every month. Thus one-fourth of his time, the Average Citizen is toiling for the government. From his family the Government takes $1,300 in yearly taxes (as against $200 twenty years ago) or takes $1,900 if debt service is included.

Truman Concedes To Overwhelming Opposition

Having wisely bowed to overwhelming opposition—Democratic as well as Republican—to his request for unrestricted authority to give U. S. armed aid to foreign countries, the Truman Administration has submitted a new bill. It vests in Congress the final say as to which countries shall receive aid and in what measure. Such aid would be limited to Marshall Plan countries, to Greece and Turkey and to Korea and the Philippines. The President will not have, and should never have asked for, power to extend military help to any countries, or groups within countries, without even consulting Congress.

The concession from the White House will, of course, improve the prospects for armed aid to Western Europe in support of the North Atlantic treaty. But the issue of cost remains to be worked out. Mr. Truman still insists upon an overall appropriation of $1,450,000,000, and not a dollar less. Most Republicans and a substantial number of Democrats think that sum unnecessarily large, at least at this time. That conviction reflects in part the recent economy mood in Congress, which influences at least our foreign spending. But there is also widespread feeling on Capitol Hill that the President is asking for more emergency power-of-the-purse than the situation calls for.

There is no objection in Congress to continued military aid to Greece and Turkey, nor to fresh aid to Korea and the Philippines. Indeed, many members of Congress want the Administration to help Nationalist China, which the State Department now regards as doomed. A strong argument can also be made for gifts of material to France, which stands directly in the path of any Soviet expansion to the west and is deplorably weak in up-to-date military equipment. But the arguments for large and immediate armament aid diminish in persuasiveness as one moves away from the potential cockpits of Europe and the Middle East.

All in all, the chances in Congress still favor a program along the lines of the interim plan of Senator Vandenberg.

A will of his own helps a young man to succeed—almost as well as a will of his rich grandfather.

Bankruptcy Of U. S. Policy In China Admitted

While Secretary Acheson talks about drafting a new American policy in China, Chiang Kai-shek has been rushing about the Pacific trying to organize an alliance against Communism.

The State Department admits the bankruptcy of its own policy and foresees the imminent loss of all China to the Communists. Nevertheless, the Department has been hostile to Chiang's effort to save the most populous area on earth from the Red tide. Last month Chiang and President Quirino of the Philippines issued a joint appeal for a Pacific anti-Communist pact. But just before the Department published its white paper, Quirino—who visited in Washington—revised his statement and eliminated all references to Chiang and his regime.

Apparently, the State Department, boys did not get to President Syngman Rhee, of South Korea. Despite the white paper offensive, Rhee joined Chiang in a weekend statement warning that the danger of Communism is worse today in the Far East than anywhere else in the world, calling for concerted action by anti-Communists in that area and pointing out that the world cannot remain free if all Asia goes under.

According to the State Department white paper, our policy in China failed chiefly because of the corruption and inefficiency of Chiang's regime. How would Secretary Acheson describe a policy, which for years mistook the Chinese Communists for "agrarian reformers," which tried to force Communists into Chiang's cabinet, and when Chiang properly refused, withdrew armed aid from China—at a moment when the Nationalist armies had made their farthest advance and the Communists were about to receive help from the Russians in Manchuria? The white paper does not say.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Contact With Tuberculosis

IN the United States, tuberculosis lost its rank—"Captain of the men of death." By 1900, the disease had dropped from first place among the causes of mortality and is now in eighth place. In Europe and Asia the situation unquestionably is different, especially in those countries which have been devastated by the world conflicts and the more recent civil wars. We can well understand how malnutrition, living in caves, and shortages of medicine and hospital facilities all encourage spread of the disease.

The death rate from tuberculosis in this country has been reduced since 1940 from 46 to 34 per 100,000 of the population. This is an average, as the figure is lower in some communities and higher in others. In Denmark, the mortality rate is 24 per 100,000 but in other areas of Europe, it hovers between 200 and 400.

On the other hand, in America, the incidence of the disease is rising. Much of this increase is due to the fact that a drive is on to uncover early cases which heretofore escaped detection. This is important because treatment is more satisfactory when involvement is minimal. Furthermore, early detection helps to prevent spread to others.

Most cases are of the pulmonary type. The infection is passed from one to another through contaminated droplets that have been sneezed from the lungs when coughing and breathing. It is disseminated also from dust that contains dried sputum. So long as active cases are in our midst the ailment will remain with us and wherever tubercle bacilli find fertile soil they are likely to take root and grow. No age is exempt but children are most susceptible and stand a good chance of becoming infected, especially should they come in contact with victims of the malady.

Robust and vigorous grownups seem to escape but this is not a hard and fast rule as all of us have been surprised to learn of a big husky friend or neighbor who has come down with the illness. When resistance is lowered the disease is more prone to strike particularly where housing conditions are insanitary, sunlight scarce, and nourishment inadequate. Overexposure to the elements and dissipation have the same effect.

Physicians often are blamed when the disease continues to spread but such basic factors are not in the strict sense medical problems. Correction must stem from other authorities. In other words, this is a community problem which would not be solved if all the medical men in the world were socialized. The same can be said of many other ailments which well meaning persons are clamoring to have overcome.

Tuberculosis strikes initially in its primary form. Most of us have been victims at one time or another. The infection masqueraded perhaps as a cold but was not so innocent. Primary lesions in babies and adults can be serious and often prove fatal. Those who survive develop sensitivity to the tuberculosis organisms and should reinfection occur, the secondary or more familiar type of infection is encountered. These are the cases that are undergoing therapy in sanatoriums and other treatment centers. The new vaccine, BCG, is helpful in that it creates a primary lesion without the usual manifestations of the disease.

Yes, but I feel certain that your physician knows what he is doing and will not allow any harm to come to the child.

Maturity, a condition that usually leads to relaxation of the abdominal wall. We should include also, pregnancy, tumors, and fluid in the abdominal cavity due to liver disease or cirrhosis of the liver.

ENLARGED THYROID
J. B. N. writes: What is a simple goiter?

REPLY
A plain, unadulterated, everyday enlargement of the thyroid. Lack of iodine is responsible. The structure usually functions normally (is neither under or over-active) but its appearance is unsightly. Now and then, however, the enlarged gland causes pressure on the windpipe or nearby nerves.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Justice Douglas Blasted By Soviets And Restricted By Government On Mountain Climbing Trip In Iran; Krug-Lewis In Agreement On Safety

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas found himself in a perplexing crossfire during his recent mountain-climbing trip in the hinterlands of Iran (ancient Persia).

On one hand he was the target of Soviet blasts as a "big devil spy," and on the other of Iranian censorship and iron-handed military control.

The Russian fulminations were publicized. But the Iron Curtain that Iran slammed down on Douglas has come to light only since his return to the U. S.

Shah Mohammed Riza Pahlavi, who comes to the U. S. in November, personally ordered the blackout on Douglas.

This is the untold story: From American officials in Iran, Douglas learned that desperate famine conditions prevail in Azerbaijan, northeast province that adjoins Russia. A combination of extreme winter and severe spring drought had destroyed crops and most of the herds of the area. Hundreds have died of hunger. To the outrage of American authorities, the Iranian government has done very little to ameliorate the tragic situation.

In one notorious instance, even that little was looted for personal gains.

The military commander of the district diverted a 400-ton shipment of relief grain to private traders and pocketed the proceeds.

U. S. officials are profoundly concerned about the explosive Azerbaijan situation because it plays squarely into Communist hands. Even under normal conditions, the historic area is one of the critical tinderboxes of the world. Azerbaijan was occupied for several years by the Red Army, which built a number of roads and made strenuous efforts to woo the tribesmen. Large Red combat patrols still make occasional penetrations. Also, Russian agents abound, and are making the most of the Iranian government's incompetence, neglect and corruption.

Douglas' itinerary included a visit to Tabriz, capital of Azerbaijan. The day before he was to fly there, he had lunch with the Shah. The young ruler talked a glowing line of reform and national development. But he froze up when Douglas mentioned casually his impending trip to Tabriz.

Two hours later, the U. S. Embassy was officially notified that the Shah had barred Douglas from flying to Azerbaijan.

Request for an explanation for this extraordinary action brought the reply, "Evil reports are emanating from there. The reports are unfavorable to the Shah and the government."

Note: Although receiving huge oil royalties, the Iranian government tried to shake down the U. S. for 200,000 bushels of free grain for famine relief.

Miracle
There is something new under the sun!

John L. Lewis and Interior Secretary Julius Krug are in harmonious agreement on the bill for more stringent mine-safety regulations and enforcement.

The measure was introduced by Senator Matt Neely, D. W. Va. In the past, Lewis has been a sulphurous critic of Krug and James Boyd, director of the U. S. Bureau of Mines. They aided Neely in drafting the bill and, because of this, there was uncertainty as to Lewis' attitude. But he has given his blessing. Despite this unity, however, the legislation has made little headway.

Neely has complained to Democratic floor leaders about this. But, overwhelmed by a backlog of major priority measures, they have given him no assurance when his bill would be reached. Best outlook is not until next session.

Practical Joker
New York's Representative Vito Marcantonio follows a militant leftist line, but he has his light moments.

Stalking into the Democratic cloakroom, he entered a phone booth near a group of lounging congressmen. Leaving the booth door open so he could be heard, Marcantonio said to the operator, "I want Moscow, Russia, person-to-person call. I want to talk to Premier Josef Stalin. Make it snappy."

The listening congressmen perked up their ears.

"What's that, operator?" yelled

Marcantonio. "You say the premier is busy and can't talk to me now? No, I don't want to talk to anyone else. Tell him I'll call later."

Marcantonio emerged from the booth with a deadpan.

"You really weren't calling Stalin, were you?" asked Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas, D. Calif.

"Sure I was," replied Marcantonio, still deadpan. "I telephone the Kremlin three or four times a week to get the pitch. That's the way I know how to follow the party line. Get the dope right from headquarters."

Truman's Relatives
Discussing their family trees the other day, President Truman and Freshman Congressman James Noland of Indiana decided they may be distantly related. Noland reported he had relatives in Missouri with the same name.

"So have I," said Truman. "In fact, I have two maiden aunts out there named Noland."

With a chuckle, the President wrote the name of one, Ethel Noland of Independence, Mo., on a slip of paper and handed it to the Indiana Democrat.

"Write her," he suggested. "She's a great authority on our family tree. Maybe she can establish a link between my family and yours."

Money Spent For Summer Camps Is Well Invested

By ROGER W. BABSON

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 14.—I believe in children's summer camps. Money spent by parents thereon is well invested. But I do notice one thing with my grandchildren.

The first summer when they are home alone, after being too old for camp, they are "lost" and know not what to do. During previous summers while at camp, every hour of the day was planned for them; they merely followed their camp counselors and the other children. After outgrowing camp life and left to themselves, they appear helpless and bored, while children who never went to camp and lacked the many camp advantages are much happier.

The above does not mean we should deprive our children of camp life; but it does mean that camp owners should overcome this drawback. This correction is even more important in connection with the recreational programs which cities and towns are now putting on for children.

Certain mornings each week I see a class of children following like little soldiers, a teacher to the beach or a playground. They—like the camp children—are having their days planned for them during the summer vacation as well as during the school terms. As these children will be entirely "on their own" after graduating from school and going to work, it seems only reasonable to let them take care of themselves for two months each year so as to get used to individual responsibility.

Labor Leaders And Politicians
Certainly our public schools are not developing individual responsibility. Young people have too much given to them and are taught to "follow their leader" from birth until they get their first job. Therefore, it is natural that they will want a labor leader and ward politician to follow when they go to work. Certainly, our schools are making followers for the labor leaders. From this bad training children receive in school and during vacations they are unconsciously being trained to welcome fascists

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Diplomacy By Alibi

THE OBJECT of diplomacy used to be to protect a country, to strengthen it, to use war as an instrument of national development, to employ peace to gain allies, to support friends, to achieve national pre-eminence. In a word, the focus of diplomatic activity was the nation. At certain stages of history, for the word "nation," might be substituted "dynasty" or "empire" but in essence, it all meant the same.

After World War I, the concept was developed of the world state and a feeble beginning was made in that direction by means of the League of Nations. The latter instrument was the invention of Woodrow Wilson and Jan Smuts. The major object was to eliminate the theory of the Balance of Power which had served Great Britain so admirably since Queen Elizabeth's time and which Talleyrand had employed so successfully to rescue Europe from the Napoleonic era.

James T. Shotwell, professor at Columbia university, is father of the doctrine that war should not be used as an instrument of national policy and he wrote the Kellogg-Briand Pact which was to strengthen the League of Nations and end war forever more.

Shotwell has exercised a much greater influence upon American action than is generally known, for he has been the philosopher behind all the Carnegie peace activities and all the societies for the development of the world state. While his philosophy is hopeful, its implementation by our State Department has made this country extraordinarily weak.

For our focus is off. Those who have been conducting our foreign policy, certainly since Franklin D. Roosevelt became President, have concentrated upon the world state rather than upon the specific interests of the United States. When the interests of the United States came into conflict with the concept of the world state, the United States was sacrificed.

Specific examples of that conflict and attitude are the

MATTER OF FACT

By STEWART ALSOP

Big Job For A Big Man

WASHINGTON.
THE "Help Wanted" sign is now out for a man to fill one of the most vitally important posts in the government—that of director of the Central Intelligence Agency. Under any circumstances this is a key job, since the CIA chief directs all American clandestine activities and secret intelligence efforts abroad. And the job is certain to become even more crucial simply because, in all the plans for a new Asiatic policy which are now being drawn up, secret operations necessarily play a decisive part.

The present CIA chief is Rear Admiral Roscoe Hickenkoetter, who is generally conceded to have done a satisfactory job in the difficult first two years of the agency's existence. Moreover, Hickenkoetter has demonstrated the essential and very rare ability necessary to persuade Congress to sign a large blank check; in this session Hickenkoetter actually got a larger concealed appropriation than he asked for.

Yet Hickenkoetter is a regular service officer, outranked by all the top officers in the Pentagon, to which he must some day return. This is one reason why he has not always been able to resist the Pentagon's tendency to slough off incompetent boobs, for whom no useful employment can be found, on the CIA. Moreover, Hickenkoetter is a temporary appointment. It is generally agreed that when he goes he should be replaced by a civilian, under no obligation to anyone, willing to take the CIA job on a permanent basis, and of sufficient stature and reputation to deal on equal terms with the most important men in the government.

The search for this paragon is now taking the form of long lists, which are being drawn up in the State Department and the Pentagon. The search is complicated by two factors. For one thing, if, as seems likely, the CIA chief's salary is raised to $22,500, the job will become one of the richest political plums in Washington. The political factor is the reason why the name of Allen Dulles, has been struck off all lists. Dulles' name was originally on most lists, but he is a prominent Republican and supporter of Thomas E. Dewey. President Truman will have none of him.

Another Complication

Another complicating factor is the new atmosphere of rivalry and tension between the State Department and the Pentagon. The State Department particularly is determined that whoever takes over the CIA should not be a Pentagon man, or more specifically, a Louis Johnson man. State inspects every Pentagon suggestion with beady-eyed suspicion.

Despite his Pentagon background, the name of the able, independent-minded Secretary of the Army, Gordon Gray, figures prominently. Aside from being well qualified in other ways, Gray is a good North Carolina Democrat. In fact, before he was appointed Secretary of the China policy; lend-lease without a quid pro quo; the Marshall Plan as a one-way instrument.

Exceptions to this general pattern appear in the Truman Doctrine concerning Greece and Turkey; the Baruch Plan for the atom bomb; the political support of the French and Italian governments as part of the Marshall Plan; the North Atlantic Alliance as a military measure in search of allies. But the exceptions are not always clear in action. In a word, the focus is still off.

The result of all this, as the events already show, is that whereas the United States theoretically won a great war, actually it has lost the peace and is now constantly on the verge of another war.

In fact, the war is so close and the situation is so desperate, that even small events become magnified, as, for instance, when the Chinese Communists hold our ambassador in their country, embarrassing his departure, we dare not act lest action precipitate a war. National logic demands for support for both Franco and Chiang Kai-shek, but world state diplomacy conflicts with national logic.

The instrument of policy now employed by the United States is the United Nations which we have housed, nurtured, protected. But the United Nations is already a failure. It seeks to develop a Parliament of Nations which must eventually become a world state.

The fact is that two confederations of states are developing outside the United Nations: the Soviet confederation, consisting of the Soviet countries from the river Elbe to the Pacific ocean; and, the North Atlantic states.

The only answer to this historic tragedy by the State Department is to offer alibis, such as the specious white paper on China. But alibis will not serve—for history marches on. Events move before the alibis can be written.

What is needed then is a focused national policy, and as that is unattainable by men trained for the world state, it would be to America's interest to make a complete and thorough-going change in our diplomatic personnel (as well as policy,

Army (which was an unwelcome surprise to him) it had been pretty well decided that Gray would become Hickenkoetter's deputy, and then take over when he had learned the ropes. Gray may still step directly from the Department of the Army into the top CIA job.

It is also possible that either General Bedell Smith or General Al Gruenther will be asked to resign from the Army to become permanent CIA chief. Both are very able men, and despite their army careers, there is little likelihood that either would truckle to the Pentagon. Another possibility, believed acceptable to both the State and Defense departments, is William Jackson, a New York lawyer who did an outstanding job with the wartime Office of Strategic Services. Yet the man whose name had led most lists, and certainly all lists submitted by the State Department, is former Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett. By general agreement, Lovett is the one man in the country most brilliantly qualified to take on the crucial intelligence job. Aside from his great ability and his long experience in the demonstrated a special capacity in the very special field in which the CIA operates; it was he who directed the effective American clandestine effort in Italy before the crucial elections there.

Much Depends On President

Much will depend on the President. Truman takes a great personal interest in intelligence matters. He likes to be briefed daily on important points, and he frequently gets up at dawn to read the previous day's intelligence reports. He has been impressed by the value of good intelligence, and perhaps for this reason, he has indicated that he would like to have Lovett as his CIA Chief.

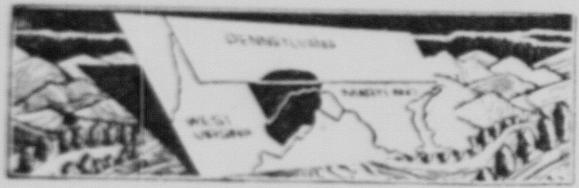

More will depend on Lovett. He is capable of expressing himself vehemently, and he has let it be known that whole herds of wild elephants would not drag him back to the Washington bear pit. This is the main reason why he has not been formally offered the job. He is only likely to accept if Truman personally persuades him that he owes it to the country. At any rate, whether Lovett takes the post or not, it is deeply important that a really capable man be found to do the job which has to be done especially in threatened Asia. For it is at least reassuring that most of the names on the lists which are now being circulated are those of well qualified men, despite the temptation to use the CIA post as a lush reward for political services rendered.

Dallas Fined In Road Accident

WESTERNPORT — Christopher Dallas, 23, 405 Essex Place, Cumberland, who was found guilty of reckless driving by Judge John Laughlin here Friday night, was fined $6.45. William L. Wilson, Cumberland, who represented Dallas, took an appeal.

The hearing was the result of an accident when Dallas' car struck Earl Eugene Waybright, 23, Route 3, Keyser, who was riding a bicycle on Route 220 near Danville. Waybright was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, by Dallas. Waybright received a laceration on his forehead.

The accident occurred August 3 while Dallas and Waybright were both traveling in the direction of Keyser. Dallas testified he was traveling at a lawful rate of speed and that the bicycle swayed. He declared he was unable to avoid striking the bicycle.

John R. Phillips, Bowling Green, and William R. Cutter, Midland, who were following Dallas in a truck corroborated his statement.

Waybright said he was carrying four gallons of berries in buckets in a basket on the front of his bicycle and did not hear Dallas sound his horn before he was struck.

Miss Velma Boyce, 31, Danville, was a witness for the state.

Trooper Thomas Barton of the Maryland State Police who investigated the accident, said he found skid marks of Dallas' tires for 135 feet before he hit the bicycle and that he knocked the bicycle 31 feet.

Jersey Joe Walcott Knocks Out Record Crowd In Stockholm Sees Knockout

American Fighter Asks For Another Crack At Charles

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 14 (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott knocked out Sweden's heavyweight champion, Ole Tandberg, in the fifth round of their scheduled 12-round bout tonight and then announced he wanted another crack at Ezzard Charles.

The hardened old campaigner from Camden, N. J., sent the big Swede to the canvas twice before he put him away for keeps after two minutes and 30 seconds of the round.

A crowd of 43,000 witnessed the battle in the Rasunda Soccer Stadium just outside Stockholm. It was the largest crowd ever to witness a fight in Scandinavia.

Jersey Joe, who has fought for the heavyweight championship three times in the past two years, dropped Tandberg for an eight count with a left hook to the jaw in the third.

Ole recovered and held his own in the fourth, but Walcott turned on a savage attack in the fifth. He sent the Swede reeling to the canvas with a short right. Tandberg arose unsteadily at the count of eight to be met by a two-fisted barrage.

The Swedish champion went down to his knees, then sagged forward on his face. He got up dizzily and then slumped into the ropes again. Referee stepped in at this point and raised Walcott's hand.

Walcott gave up 15 pounds to his younger adversary, weighing 194 to Tandberg's 209.

After the bout, Walcott announced he wanted another shot at Ezzard Charles, who outpointed him in Chicago last June 22 for National Boxing Association recognition as world's heavyweight champion.

"I think certainly beat Charles next time," the New Jersey negro said.

Felix Boechicchio, his manager, said "it was a clean fight and Joe's victory will keep him up in the contenders division next to Charles."

Freddy Derks, 15, Of Akron Wins 12th Soap Box Derby

Beats Detroit Lad By Yard In Finals, 50,000 See Event

By FRITZ HOWELL
AKRON, O., Aug. 14 (AP)—Freddy Derks, 15-year-old Akron newspaper carrier, today won the 12th annual All-American soap box derby and a $5,000 college scholarship.

It was the second straight year that the entry of the Akron Beacon Journal won the race. The 1948 winner was Donnie Strub, a 14-year-old boy from Warren, O.

Young Derks, a high school sophomore who hopes to study automotive design in a college which he has not yet selected, defeated 147 other finalists from 40 states, Panama, Canada, and Alaska in the 78-hat thrill-filled championship races.

Loses Finals By Yard
Donald Kelpch, 14, of Detroit, was second, losing the finals to Derks by a yard. Third place went to Charles P. Muhl, Jr., of Cleveland, another 14-year-old.

Jerry Williamson, a little 11 year old, from Charleston, W. Va., was a loudly cheered fourth. Tommy Navrad, 13, of Nebraska City, Neb., was fifth, and sixth went to Fred Collins, 14, of Indianapolis.

Collins' brother, Durward, was sixth a year ago.

Young Derks got everything out of his trim racer that was possible. He won his opening heat in 27.26 seconds, the next three in 27.22 seconds, and then took the finals in 27.16 seconds over the 975.4-foot incline.

Derks carved his racer from an 80 foot blank walnut tree which his father helped cut down.

All the work on the racer, under Derby rules, was done by the youngster. He said he needed 12 months to whip his car into championship shape.

Although he and the car were permitted to weigh a maximum of 250 pounds the new champ and his mount weighed in at a 226 total.

Klepach, veteran of three previous derbies, is a pigeon raiser. He's the fourth of his family to compete in Detroit soap box events. He said he likes to fish, make model planes. For his second place he gets a new Chevrolet automobile, a gift of the co-sponsors.

Muhl, for third place, received a movie camera. He is a trombone player in the high school band, carried a silver dollar for a good luck piece and wants to study aeronautical engineering in college.

50,000 See Derby
Williamson picked up a wire recorder for his fourth place, the blue-eyed little fellow—probably the smallest in the finals—also getting the greatest round of applause from the crowd of around 50,000.

Navrad, an eight-grader who cut his racer's body from a huge walnut log on his father's farm, received binoculars. His mother is a teacher in the school Tommy attends.

Aussies To Play U. S. For Trophy
Italy Defeated 3-0 In Davis Cup Tests

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 14 (INS)—Australia won its way into the Davis Cup challenge round against the United States today with 3-0 victory margin over Italy in the dispute-ridden interzone finals.

On the heels of Billy Sidwell's opening singles conquest of Giovanni Cucelli at the Westchester Country Club Friday, Frank Sedgman creamed Marcello Del Bello in straight sets in the second singles today, 6-0, 6-4, 6-4. Then the Australian doubles tandem of Sedgman and John Bromwich put Cucelli and Del Bello to rest in the pay-off match, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

The remaining two matches of the interzone play—Sidwell vs. Del Bello and Sedgman vs. Cucelli—will be played as scheduled tomorrow, but will only be a formality. Having assured themselves of victory by taking the best-of-five, the Aussies now have their sights set on the challenge round which they dropped last year to the United States by a 5-0 mark.

Death Of Girl Who Fell From Car Is Probed

Soldier Is Held For Questioning

A 19-year-old soldier was under arrest last night as Grant County, W. Va., authorities investigated a story that Etta Adelaide Shreve, 16, Smoke Hole, W. Va., was fatally injured in a fall from his moving automobile.

The soldier, who has been at his Petersburg, W. Va., home on leave since August 11, was docketed as William G. Ayers, a private first class at Andrews Air Field, near Washington, D. C.

Sgt. W. C. Davis, W. Va., State Police, said the girl was last seen outside the Hilltop Club, a tavern and dance hall in Petersburg, where a witness said she was arguing with Ayers, and attempted to walk away from him several times. He blocked her, the sergeant said.

Sheriff Boswell H. Alt, Grant County, quoted Ayers as saying the girl fell from his car on Route 28 about 400 feet from the Hilltop Club. The soldier told police his car was moving about 15 miles an hour.

Had Fractured Skull

Sgt. Davis said Ayers brought the injured girl to King's Clinic, Petersburg, shortly after midnight and she died about 1:30 a. m. The sheriff said she suffered a fractured skull.

Authorities who questioned Freda Shreve, about 17, a sister of the victim, quoted her as saying Ayers had attempted to make a date with Etta earlier in the day and suggested meeting her at the Hilltop at 8 p. m. Saturday.

The older sister said Etta had declined and did not go to the tavern until after 10 p. m. Ayers was there, however, and the couple was seen together outside the tavern. It was the sister who police quoted about Ayers blocking Etta's attempts to walk away from him.

The girl was last seen walking around a corner of the tavern in what police said would have been the general direction of Ayers' parked car. They were not seen driving away, nor was the girl seen entering the car.

Sheriff Alt said he had personally checked the lock catches on the doors of Ayers car and found them to be in "good condition." Sgt. Davis said investigating authorities had Ayers' word about where the girl struck the road.

After questioning the older sister, police said Ayers and Etta had known one another for sometime and had gone together for brief periods. They did not know if he had seen her before his present leave.

Arrested At Clinic

Sheriff Alt said the soldier was taken into custody at the clinic where municipal police followed him after he allegedly violated speed limits while passing through Petersburg en route to the clinic.

A six-man coroner's jury was impaneled yesterday by Coroner H. E. J. Oates but it was adjourned until today after viewing the body and questioning the witnesses. Two were identified as the girl's father, H. C. Shreve, and the older sister.

Ayers who also was questioned briefly told the jury that he and the girl planned to drive down the road a short distance to turn around. Police said the car was headed in the general direction of the girl's home which is 20 miles from the tavern.

A funeral service will be held for the victim Tuesday at 2 p. m. with interment in Upper Tract Cemetery near Smoke Hole.

Other authorities investigating the case are Deputy Sheriff Shirley Yorkum, Trooper C. H. Lewis, West Virginia State Police, and Prosecuting Attorney B. P. Mitchell.

Council To Act On Collector's Salary

A proposed ordinance which would provide for payment of the city tax collector on a salary rather than on a commission basis will receive its third reading at a meeting of the Mayor and Council this morning.

Under the proposed system the tax collector would receive an annual salary of $3,250 plus a $400 cost-of-living bonus. Backers of the plan declare it would save the city between $4,000 and $5,000 a year.

Many Who Coughed Up March 15 Begin Sneezing Today, August 15

The hay fever victim, butt of jokes, cartoons and gagsters, is sorry today has come.

For him and his thousands of brothers, today, August 15, carries more disdain than Uncle Sam's income tax collection day of March 15.

By tradition, fact or mental outlook of the sufferer, August 15 has been for ages the beginning of the hay fever season.

The tears with which the day is greeted properly herald its arrival as one of virtual despair.

For the next 45 to 60 days or until the first killing frost, the hay fever victim will be expressing his sadness with tears in his eyes and a sniffling nose.

At times, and frequently for extended periods, the exasperated sneezes will emphasize the murder in his heart for that tiny bit of ragweed pollen and the trillions of others that cause his irritation.

For all but the most unfortunate, however, hay fever is not the bane it once was. Science has seen to that.

In some few cases, shots in the

One Way To Spend A Vacation

Miss Mary Catherine Miller, 234 Aviret Avenue (left), and Miss Dorothy Cosgrove, 601 Sylvan Avenue, have planned a vacation trip to Canada beginning August 20 like many other working girls have done. The only difference is that they plan to take the trip by motorcycle. With three other girls in the Cumberland area, the two have become cycle enthusiasts and find automobiles tame riding.

Miss Miller bought her motorcycle in March while Miss Cosgrove has owned her machine for about two years. The girls will take the more than 300-mile trip to Niagara Falls in two days, but don't know how far they'll get into Canada before their week vacation limit is reached.

Devlin Elected Legion District Vice Commander

John J. Devlin of Midland Post No. 169, American Legion, was elected vice commander of Mountain District, American Legion, at a district caucus yesterday at the Oakland Armory.

Delegates from 14 posts unanimously endorsed Kenneth R. Hamner, present Maryland department senior vice commander, for commander of the Maryland Department.

Devlin's election will be ratified at the departmental convention in Baltimore Saturday. He was unopposed for election and will serve until the 1950 election.

A past commander of Midland Post, Devlin is the first World War II veteran to be elected vice commander of Mountain District.

He succeeds Arthur G. Ramey of Farraday Post No. 24, who conducted yesterday's meeting. Paul A. Turney, past commander of Proctor Kildow Post No. 171, opened the meeting.

Six department executive committee members elected at yesterday's caucus also will take office at the convention Saturday. They are: William Rankin of James P. Love Post No. 92, Lonaconing; Ed Kahl, Proctor Kildow Post No. 71, Oakland; Arthur Norris, Farraday Post No. 24, Frostburg; Howard Blackburn, Victory Post No. 155, Westport; and Russell C. Paupe and Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., both of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, Cumberland.

Leslie C. Clark, local attorney, was unanimously endorsed for departmental judge advocate. The departmental election will take place at the convention Saturday.

Hamner, a young World War II veteran and attorney, is past commander of Waverly Post No. 164, Baltimore, and has been responsible for legislation affecting war orphans, communism, veterans' hospitals, and veterans' housing.

He passed his bar examinations at the age of 20, a year before he could be admitted to the Bar, and served with the Air Force for three years during World War II.

The Baltimore district has also promised unanimous support to Hamner and his ticket.

At yesterday's caucus, Frank Powers, of Farraday Post, Frostburg, reported the Frostburg post will put in its bid for the 1950 departmental convention.

arm with a long sharp needle have brought great relief and in some instances even have effected virtual cures.

Other victims still grab the fast-train for mountain areas where the ragweed doesn't grow. Some rush to the seashore and hope for continued ocean breezes.

But more and more, the hay fever victim is looking toward the work of science for relief and a good night's sleep.

They are the "anti-histamine" drugs that have been developed in the last few years.

First there was Benadryl, then later came Pyribenzamine and now this year is a new one—Trimeton—so new it hasn't even hit the market yet for general prescribing.

All afford some relief to a large percentage of the hay fever victims who have taken them. All three can be obtained only on a doctor's prescription.

Some who take them suffer side effects such as drowsiness or restlessness, but science appears to be on the right track. The day may not be too far away when August 15 won't mean a thing.

Cycling Becomes Popular Leisure Sport For Women

A generation or two ago, it was considered somewhat daring for a lady to drive an automobile. Nowadays, only sissies content themselves with such a safe method of transportation.

Two Cumberland girls, one 19 and one 20, are going to Canada August 20, but they'll go by motorcycle.

Miss Mary Catherine Miller, 234 Aviret Avenue, and Miss Eleanor Cosgrove, 601 Sylvan Avenue, will pack their saddlebags and make the 365-mile trip to Niagara Falls in two days.

But, they explained, they want to go slowly and see the sights. Neither could tell how far they would get into Canada as Miss Miller must get back to her job as a bookkeeper at a local service station within a week.

Motorcycling is a growing hobby among Cumberland girls. Three others, Mrs. Helen Paul, Sylvan Avenue, Miss Dorothy Miller, Crestapoint, and Miss Pat Cosgrove, Eleanor's sister, all own their own cycles.

Although their trips are mostly short ones taken in the evening, sometimes they really get ambitious. Eleanor and her father, a motorcycle shop owner, once cruised all through Pennsylvania and New York. A trip down to Richmond, Va., or to Carlisle, Pa., is an ordinary weekend excursion.

Miss Miller and her second-hand machine, which she bought in March, go to her Grantsville home every weekend. She got her license in April, but she's been riding tandem for the past two years.

The etiquette of the road requires that a friend, with strength enough to take it, be taken along "piggy back." That's how enthusiasts are born.

Once they get the feel of the open air on their faces, one of them explained, there's no holding them until they get a motorcycle all their own.

Armed Bandit In Need Of Money Frightened Away

Tells Woman He "Don't Want To Kill"

A sympathetic bandit who didn't want to kill but needed money was set to flight in Frostburg Saturday when a woman grocery clerk moved to the rear of the store to get money but instead dashed through a rear door for help.

Frostburg police said Mrs. John Kyle, whose husband operates the store on Bowery Street, reported that a man dressed in a brown sport shirt and matching pants entered the establishment about 2 p. m.

As Mrs. Kyle moved to the front of the store to serve him, the bandit pulled a gun and informed her, "I don't want to kill you but I need your money."

Mrs. Kyle, police said, informed the would-be bandit that she kept the cash in the rear of the store toward which she began to move.

When she reached the rear of the store, the woman dashed out the back door, calling for her husband who was in the home adjacent to the store. The bandit fled through the front door as Mrs. Kyle continued to call for her husband.

Police said the man was driving away in a car as the woman reached the front of the store. The car, they explained, was apparently left parked at Stoyer Street, just a block from the store.

Mrs. Kyle arrived on the street too late to observe the license plates on the vehicle but told police the bandit drove off on to Stoyer Street and disappeared.

A description of the man was broadcast throughout the state.

Kyle, after checking the cash drawer and other coin containers in the front of the store told police nothing had been taken by the bandit. Mrs. Kyle was alone in the store at the time.

The band devoted 15 minutes of its program to selections played at the Lions national convention in New York last month. Norma Roberson, drum major, led the band, while the majorettes, Lois Davis, Ardith Ines, Shirley Cage, Margaret Perow, Margaret Mongold and Ethel Stewart, gave a baton-twirling demonstration.
